Bikeshare has arrived! Starting July 7th, LA's first bike-share system launched its much anticipated pilot program with 65 stations around Downtown Los Angeles. The system offers transit fare integration, making it a component of, rather than a compliment to, transit. Riders will be able to use the same TAP cards they use on Metro buses and trains, and the 65 stations and 1,000 bikes downtown will allow users to pick up and return the bikes wherever they ride. The program aims to expand to other LA County communities in 2017. Check out LA Times' bike-share FAQ and sign up for your monthly or annual pass here.

The Historic Core BID is excited to announce that starting July 13th, a new mural from acclaimed South African artist Faith47 will be going upon the north wall of the Spring Arts Tower at 5th and Spring. Faith has received international recognition for her large works adorning cities like Johannesburg, London, and New York (pictured above), and we're thrilled to have helped her find this location in the heart of the Historic Core. Stop by during this month's Downtown Art Walk Thursday July 14th to see the piece going up!

Considering Downtown Los Angeles' deep roots in LGBT activism and increasingly popular nightlife scene, the joyous emergence of something like DTLA Proud seemed like only a matter of time. On August 7th, DTLA Proud Festival will take over Pershing Square to celebrate the profound revitalization of DTLA and the growing LGBT community. Through community partners, the festival will showcase the best that downtown has to offer including local restaurants, retail shops, and community groups, a main stage programmed by local talent, and an all day water park to enjoy between sets. Grab tickets or become a sponsor!

New furniture has arrived at the Spring Street Parklet! Swing by for lunch, coffee, or just to relax, located between 6th and 7th Streets, just in front of Joe's Pizza, Syrup, and Casita Taco al Carbon.

The Old Bank District's very own museum-to-be, "Main Museum," made news this month with plans announced for the launch of "Beta Main," a series of informal public programs to take place in some of the completed storefront spaces along Main and 4th Streets. The series kicks off October 30 with a 10-day event staged by Los Angeles artists Suzanne Lacy and Andrea Bowers — two figures known for their socially minded pieces. When completed, the museum will have 40,000 square feet of exhibition space on the ground floors of the 1903 Hellman Building and the 1905 Farmers and Merchants Building as well as a rooftop sculpture garden and amphitheater.

Keep in the know of art, culture, civic events and more with our local DTLA Events Calendar.

A record crowd of 38,000 gathered to watch 4th of July fireworks at Grand Park's annual block party celebration.
